Couple and dog roll on after fire

By ALISON ALOISIO

When a fire broke out last month at Jackie and Bob Schuesler's home on the Intervale Road in Bethel, Jackie was at the vet with their dog.

Poppee, a 15-year-old border collie/beagle/lab mix, had hurt her back a week earlier when she tumbled down some stairs.

Bob was also not home when the fire started. He returned first to find the house engulfed. The couple lost everything, including two cats and a rabbit.

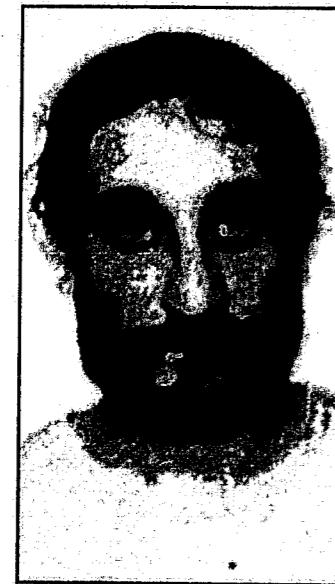

Everything except Poppee.

Jackie believes that despite their loss, there was some divine intervention involved that put Poppee at the Bethel Animal Hospital instead of at home with the other animals.

"It was bad losing the cats and the rabbits, but losing Poppee ... Bob and Poppee are always together," she said.

But Poppee's diagnosis was not an easy fix. The old dog had suffered nerve damage in her spine, making it impossible to use her

Bethel man accused of sexual assault

By Sun Media Wire

A Bethel man appeared Monday in Oxford County Superior Court on charges that he sexually assaulted, beat, terrorized and restrained a woman at his East Bethel home last month.

Brian M. Cronkite, 28, was arrested Friday by Oxford County Sheriff's deputies on charges of gross sexual assault, aggravated assault, domestic assault, domestic terrorizing and criminal restraint.

On Monday, Cronkite's bail was set at $10,000 cash or a Maine Pretrial Services contract. Conditions of his release include no contact with the woman and no alcohol. He is scheduled to be arraigned Nov. 5.

Cronkite had not posted bail as of Wednesday morning, according to the Oxford County Jail.

According to court records, Cronkite has no prior criminal history in Maine.

Cars, chicken BBQ and good times in Andover

Saturday's weather for the annual Olde Home Days in Andover did not start off promising, but the skies quickly cleared in time for the parade and other events. Pictured here are old cars in the car show on the Akers Ski grounds. In the background smoke rises from the grills behind the Andover Fire Station as firefighters prepared for the annual chicken barbecue in the station (white building). At left organizations sell food under their tents. More photos, Page 9.

Gould grad challenges U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell in Kentucky race

By ALISON ALOISIO

Matt Bevin, a Gould Academy graduate who spends time in the Bethel area and owns a vacation home here, recently announced his intent to challenge U.S. Sen. Mitch McConnell of Kentucky in the Republican primary in 2014.

McConnell is currently the Minority Leader in the Senate.

Bevin is a native of Shelburne, N.H., where he grew up as one of eight children.

After graduating from Gould, Bevin went to Washington and Lee University in Virginia on an ROTC scholarship, then served in the U.S. Army, where he attained the rank of captain, according to his campaign website.

He then worked in the financial industry for many years, settling in Kentucky with his family in 1999.

In 2011 he took over Bevin Bros., a bell manufacturing company in Connecticut, which had been in the Bevin family since 1832.

The company makes bells for such customers as the Salvation Army and Macy's Santas.

In recent years Bevin has donated bells for Bethel's annual "Jingle Bell Run," which takes place on Main Street with the arrival of Santa Claus and the lighting of the Christmas tree on the Common.

Bevin also placed a life-sized statue of a pale green horse on the porch of his Wiley Block building at the top of Main Street.

Titled "Hope in the Garden," the horse was one of more than 130 created in 2009 and displayed around Louisville, Ky. as part of

Bethel Airport awarded $750,000 grant

By ALISON ALOISIO

The Bethel Airport Authority is expected to award a bid Aug. 13 to build a new terminal building, along with other improvements.

Bethel last week received notification that the airport had been awarded a $750,000 grant through the U.S. Department of Transportation for the project.

The work will also include a new access road, parking lot and electrical vault.

The new 26x50-square foot terminal will replace an existing 256-square-foot "pilots' lounge."

The new access road will be a right turn off the North Road, replacing an entrance that currently shares Airport

Road with the town's Gamm Building.

Under the grant arrangement the Federal Aviation Administration will pay 90 percent of the cost, while the state and the airport will pay 5 percent each.

The project is part of a 20-year Airport Capital Improvement Plan, approved by Bethel selectmen last August. The plan addresses an expected increase in airport usage and actively encourages more use by itinerant pilots.

Mt. Will Trail gains better views, longer route

By ALISON ALOISIO

The popular Mt. Will Trail in Bethel is getting some tender loving care and a reroute, thanks to cooperation between conservation-minded groups and some funding from the town.

At the same time, several local high school students are getting lessons in outdoor skills and leadership.

The trail, built on town forest land in 1991 by the Bethel Conservation Commission, starts just across from the Bethel Transfer Station on Route 2. It followed a 3.25-mile loop, with scenic overlooks that include the North Ledge (looking toward Bear River corners and the Androscoggin River toward Hanover) and the South Cliffs (looking up the river valley).

Hikers can do an up-and-back hike to the spots as well.

This summer's project goals include rehabilitating and rerouting sections of the north side of the trail to accommodate a wider range of users, eliminating a potentially dangerous ledge climb, lowering future maintenance needs and limiting erosion damage to the trail and nearby streams.

The effort is coordinated between the Mahoosuc Pathways recreational trails organization and the University of Maine

4-H Camp & Learning Center at Bryant Pond.

Together they have formed the Bethel Conservation Corps, which provides a leadership and job skills program for high school students.

Leading up to the Mt. Will project, the half dozen students spent two weeks at the 4-H camp learning outdoor skills that included back-country, Leave-No-Trace camping, outdoor leadership and safety.

Last week they began work on the trail.

Landon Fiske of MP said the ledge climb approaching the north ledges has been eliminated.

"The crew finished the new section around it, improved the view from the top of the ledges, and began blocking off the old route up to the ledges. The trail will be about 50 percent longer, but all of the steep/difficult sections will be bypassed," he said.

The work is funded with $6,000 from Bethel's Pathways maintenance budget, he said.

"Mahoosuc Pathways and Bryant Pond 4-H camp are making up the difference," said Fiske. "About half the money is going to pay stipends to the participants."

Next year the organizers hope to raise more outside money to expand the overall program, Fiske said.

Letters

SKEWERING SAVAGES UNSEEMLY

To the Editor:

I've lived in Bethel for over 25 years now. My, how the time goes by. For just about all of those 25 years, I've watched the unseemly sport of skewering the Savages go on unrelenting and with great gusto. I wonder if it will ever stop.

I wonder if many of you, after reading Ron's letter of last week, had any idea of the many charitable efforts he and his family have put forth without ever mentioning it. I know that I was unaware of most of them. What I am aware of is how much pleasure is taken when any of them perhaps stands up to fight for what he believes in and runs afoul of the "powers that be." Those stories get a great deal of ink in the Bethel Citizen and in the Lewiston Sun and only a mention of the fact that the last dust-up was dismissed in court.

Any of you who remember the days of the Backstage will remember that I was always opposed to the onerous sign ordinance that has made it difficult to do business in this town. Radio and television advertising is very expensive and for almost all of the small businesses in Bethel, the only avenue they have to draw people into their establishments is their signage. As an aside, because the Backstage was grandfathered, I could have put a glaring neon sign on the top of the roof but decided not to in order to be a good citizen of the Town of Bethel. However, as you know, no good deed goes unpunished. I know that the current owner of the Funky Red Barn, formerly known as the Backstage, has been tormented over and over by cranky neighbors who dragged him into the town office over and over again with absolutely absurd complaints.

But then, I digress. There are many people in this town that would prefer that there were no businesses in town. Nothing to spoil the pristine image of the Currier and Ives feel of the town. Too many of you who feel that way have come up from somewhere else where you made your living and now want to retire and dictate to everyone else how they should live their life. Too many of you would love to put loggers out of business, restaurants, bar owners and any other business in town that doesn't match your idea of what your town should look and be like. Again, to repeat myself, that's after you made your money somewhere else.

Too many times in my 25 years in Bethel, I've watched the board of selectmen, the planning boards, or a town manager exercise their power to figure out why somebody could NOT do what they wanted to do rather than help them find a way to get their personal dream off the ground.

There should be some rights left in this country that can't be trampled on by groups of people who believe that only their vision of the world is acceptable.

MAHOOSUC BAND CONCERT

To the Editor:

The Mahoosuc Community Band will have its end of summer concert Monday, Aug. 12, 7 p.m. at Bingham Auditorium, Gould Academy, Bethel.

We've been having fun learning new music this season (Things That Go Bump in the Night, Runaway Baby) and bringing up old favorites (Satchmo, Cabaret, and Blues Brothers) for the public's entertainment. Thank you to everyone who supports the community band, which allows us to purchase new music. Refreshments will be available after the concert.

Anyone interested in bringing out their old instrument and dusting off the valves or pads is welcome to come anytime we're practicing. The rehearsals for the spring season will start Monday night, Sept. 10 at 7 p.m. in the basement of the West Parish Congregational Church.

For more information contact our director Patricia Boyle-Wight at 824-8453 or pboyle-wight@sundayriverinn.com or our president, Kathleen DeVore at 875-2364 or katdev@aol.com.

SKATE PARK THANKS

To the Editor:

The Bethel Skate Park was originally built as a gathering place for skaters, bikers, scooterers, and others. It was built because we, in Bethel, believe in our community and particularly our youth.

Improvements were made to the park over the past two weeks. All work was done by community volunteers too numerous to be mentioned. Everyone needs to be thanked.

As the concrete cures, the edges will be finished. Thanks for the hard work which has made our park that much better.

REFLECTIONS ON MOLYOCKETT DAY

To the Editor:

Thank you to my generous community. Last month, I was truly heartened to be from this western Maine community. The former Chief of the Penobscot Nation, Barry Dana, standing at the Bethel Green Gazebo, warmly thanked us all for the positive changes we've made in our annual celebration of the Abanaki healer MollyOckett.

There is a quote attributed to MollyOckett herself that says, "Remember as you pass through life's journey, your greatest troubles will be found to result from ignorance." I hope that she is smiling on us now that we are working on that ignorance. The Maine Wabanaki-State Child Welfare Truth and Reconciliation process has brought much of our sad history into the light. I myself have learned things I never would have dreamed of: like MollyOckett lived during the time of a bounty on the heads of native people (she managed to escape it). That is what "redskin" is really referring to – taking the scalp of a native person and turning it in for 50 pounds.

Our willingness to expand our community celebration, and open the door to a native presence, is a testimony to the openness, kindness and generosity of the people who live here. My hope is that local citizens do not feel that anything has been taken away, but that this celebration, unique in Maine, is expanding to create even more meaning.

I also want to thank the three judges who helped us select the two best essays in the first annual MollyOckett Essay Contest: Raney Bench, Educational Curator of the ABBE Museum; James Francis, Cultural Historian for the Penobscot Nation; and Richard Blanco, Presidential Inaugural Poet. My thanks as well, to Robin Zinchuk of the Bethel Chamber who also deserves great credit for her leadership in helping to guide this expansion.

The most important thing to me about honoring MollyOckett, whose role in healing was so encompassing that local people never forgot her and commemorate her still, is we are also beginning to heal a long-standing injustice by including her descendants in this celebration.

TRIATHLON INFORMATION

To the Editor:

The Maine State Triathlon and the Kids' Triathlon are this weekend, Aug. 10 and 11. The Kids' Triathlon starts at 3 p.m. on Saturday. The course takes place between Angevine Pond swimming area and Bethel Airport. Young athletes will be riding their bicycles along North Road and running between the pond and Daisy Bryant Road. If at all possible, avoid North Road between 3 and 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

The adult triathlon is Sunday, and "event central" is at The Bethel Inn Resort's Lake house on Songo Pond, south of Bethel on Routes 5/35. Hundreds of athletes and their families gather at the event, and safety is our highest priority. For this reason, a portion of Route 5 will be officially closed from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. from the intersection of Route 5/Mill Hill Road/Grover Hill Road southerly to the intersection of Route 5/Vernon Street. Please plan to use alternate roads during this time. Additionally, take caution – high speed bicycles will be coming through Bethel village between 8:30 and 11 a.m. (coming north on Vernon, down Main, left onto Railroad). We will have volunteers and support from the Oxford County Sheriff at key intersections stopping or slowing traffic as need be. Please leave extra time if you are driving in or out of Bethel village during those hours.

Cheer on the athletes – here's the course. Swim starts at 8 a.m. with a 750-meter swim on Songo Pond. Athletes then transition to their bicycles and proceed south on Routes 5/35, left onto Vernon Street, north to Main Street, Bethel, right on Main Street, left on Railroad Street to Route 2, and then left on Lovers Lane/Routes 5/35, cycling south back to the Bethel Inn Lake house, where they transition to the 5.8k run. Runners go south on Routes 5/35, left onto South Shore Road, run around Songo Pond via Baker Road, left on Routes 5/35 to finish at the Bethel Inn Lake house (all details and maps at www.mainestatetriathlon.com).

The staff of the chamber is still seeking volunteers for the triathlons, as well as the Bethel Harvestfest and Chowdah Cook-off on Saturday, Sept. 21. Volunteers for the triathlon receive a commemorative T-shirt, and volunteers for the Harvestfest receive complimentary chowdah tickets. Please call 207-824-2282 if you are interested in helping!

MUSIC WITHOUT BORDERS THANKS

To the Editor:

Tamara Poddubnaya, Artistic Director of the 7th Music without Borders – International Piano Festival at Gould Academy, joins me in thanking the Bethel community for the warm welcome and enthusiastic support given to her and Festival students during their recent time in residence at the Gould campus.

This year the festival added a fourth week to accommodate the number of students – 16 in all, including some of the most promising of the new generation of classical pianists from the United States and Europe – who wished to work with Professor Poddubnaya. Throughout this period, June 24 to July 20, they presented 17 public recitals and four, more informal afternoon "piano marathons." Among many of Tamara Poddubnaya's usual "surprises" were a guest appearance by soprano Johanna Ruby, a sophomore at Ithaca College School of Music, and a solo artist recital by pianist Henry Kramer, a Cape Elizabeth resident completing his graduate study at the Yale School of Music and about to launch his concert career. Throughout all of these events, the performers were overwhelmed by the gracious and respectful attention of so many local fans and summer visitors. Even when the air conditioning failed on July 19 and auditum temperatures soared, a packed house sat quietly – one could have heard that proverbial pin drop – in rapt attention at Mark Demidovich's solo recital. The success of Music without Borders stems from the hard work of its participants AND from the many favors and kindnesses of the Gould Academy summer staff and members of the Bethel community, whose legendary Maine hospitality has grown over the seasons. The students fall in love with the campus, the town, and the people.

At the risk of overlooking someone, I mention the assistance of these generous residents: Scott Davis and his Sudbury Inn staff and Dick Raso and the Bethel Inn staff again welcomed the pianists and their families to town. Brad Jerome let Festival participants cool off in the Bethel Inn pool, and he arranged for students to play the Steinway in the Main Dining Room during the Saturday dinner hour. Once again, Festival pianists played at Sunday services at the West Parish Congregational Church.

Deb Costello offered us extraordinary campus administrative support, and we renewed acquaintances with Gould's very patient and understanding night watchmen. Our thanks go to Brian Scheidegger and the Ordway Dining Center staff, for lunches and many wonderful dinners, as well as the ice-cold drinks served during recital intermissions. When the electrical storms damaged the air conditioning controls, Gould's head of maintenance, Jerry Bernier came in to troubleshoot the problem and arrange for a repair early the next morning, so that "the show could go on."

Sally Taylor and Ginny Kelly dressed our stage with beautiful arrangements of flowers from their gardens, and several fans volunteered to distribute the Festival poster that Kevin McCarthy's company so professionally designed and printed. Tineke and Marvin Ouwinga and Lynne and Bud Kulik worked their magic on all sorts of things, including dinners in their homes and tours of the Bethel area, not to mention jaunts in Bud's 1947 Chrysler. Tineke coordinated home hospitality: delicious meals and good conversation – and, yes, even some piano playing, wherever there was one – at the homes of Stan Howe, Brendan and Jean Bass, Mike Haberman, Jan Stowell (with Ginny Gamble's able assistance), Mike and Lorrie Hoeh, Carlie Casey and Charleen Chase, and Dutch and Elaine Dresser. Lynne graciously provided lodging for Festival veteran Veselin "Vesko" Novin, when we exceeded the bounds of both Vogt House and Park Street House.

Tineke, Lynne, and Bud served as our ushers for the seventeen public recitals given during the three-week Festival, greeting old friends and making the many newcomers feel right at home. In what has become a Festival tradition, after the final recital and the fireworks, Tamara and the students assembled around Stan Howe's kitchen table for late-evening desserts. Many people generously donated funds to support expenses, including the considerable costs of piano tuning and maintenance. Heat and humidity, unusual even for July, along with hour upon hour of daily practice and the many evening performances, kept our master piano technician, Mel Fletcher, and his son, Jamin, busy, "far above and beyond the call."

MWB7 fans will be happy to recall that Professor Poddubnaya typically returns to campus to present Steinway Series recitals with one or two of her students during the regular school year. Notices of these special events will go out to our expanding e-mail list (Request to be on this list at dchristie@roadrunner.com) and also appear in the Citizen and on the Gould Academy website.

Tamara Poddubnaya, the Festival students, and I send our thanks to everyone who helped make this 7th season of Music without Borders enjoyable for all and a resounding success.

hind legs. So instead she got dog wheels.

With guidance from Jeanne Boisma of BAH, Poppee was set up with a sulky-like device. It attached to her body with a harness, and allowed her hindquarters to roll along as she walked with her front legs.

"When they first attached it," said Jackie, "Poppee just stood there and stared at it."

But with a little encouragement, she was soon wheeling along, navigating the rooms of the house where the Schueslers are staying.

Now Bob takes Poppee to Davis Park three times a day to walk/wheel.

The Schueslers also take her to Songo Pond almost daily for swim therapy (complete with a life jacket), and back to the vet for acupuncture and laser treatment.

Jackie said Poppee is doing well overall, considering the trauma of the injury, the fire and the change of living quarters.

She didn't eat well for several weeks, but her appetite returned last week.

Community support

As for Poppee's humans, they are also doing well considering the circumstances.

"I feel like someone died and I'm in the mourning process," said Jackie.

She mourns such things as baby pictures and her grandmother's vase.

She also grew up in the house where she and Bob lived, so the sense of loss spans a lifetime.

Jackie says she alternates between crying and laughing about her circumstances.

But the support of the community has buoyed the couple, she said.

"It's beyond anything anybody could imagine - townspeople, businesses," said Jackie.

The Schueslers have received gift cards, clothes, food - and shredded paper. Jackie vermicomposts (composting using worms) and paper is part of the diet.

Finding some humor in the disastrous fire, she described how she ran around the perimeter of the burning house shouting, "My worms, my worms!"

Fortunately, the worm beds, located in a shed, were far enough from the building to survive.

Her friends and acquaintances have responded by supplying worm food.

It helps the worms, but for Jackie caring for them also provides some normalcy in a world turned upside down.

In addition to support from the community, Jackie also relies on her faith in God. She said she regularly repeats to herself the words, "He is a great and mighty God, who has set His plans in place for all of us from the beginning of time. Robert and I have never, ever questioned that. So, here we are."

Bob Schuesler walks Poppee at Davis Park. Thanks to a new set of doggie wheels, the dog is able to walk three times a day at the park.

Mahoosuc Rescue aided Largay search

BETHEL - Mahoosuc Mountain Rescue Team this week completed its most lengthy and committing search, according to team member Bob Baribeau of Bethel. They took part in the effort to find Gerry Largay (Inchworm) on the Appalachian Trail between Route 4 and Route 27. The large-scale search for the experienced Tennessee hiker went on for two weeks without success. "We were the first team called to the search very early on the morning of the 25 of July and the last team out of the field on Aug. 4," Baribeau said. "Mahoosuc fielded 23 volunteers who hiked close to 500 miles searching for the missing hiker, while summiting six 4,000-foot peaks. The terrain searched included many miles off-trail. The Maine Warden Service directed and organized the search, which may be the most extensive ever performed along the AT corridor."

Albany to host music revival

The kickoff show for what Albany organizers hope will be a series of performances takes place Sunday, Aug. 18 at the Albany Town Hall.

"Albany Town Hall Music Revival" will be hosted by local performer and Albany resident Brad Hooper, according to a press release from the Albany Improvement Association.

The show will feature four professional acts from the area, including Hooper; "Trailer Trash" (Paul Dube, Ellen Lindsey, Eric Grenier, Bob Rosenbaum); "The Milltown Road Show" (Terry Swett, Jack D. Jolie, Debbie Stanford); and Bunch of Old Hippies (Nate Towne, Al Mallory, Bob Wallace, Rusty Wiltjer, Paul Dube, Davey Sturdevant, Tom Zicarelli).

To help the AIA's ongoing effort to restore the town hall, Hooper offered to do a solo show but found other professionals who thought it would be "cool" to jam in the 18th-century structure, the release said.

"I was totally excited and surprised that these acts, all of which I hold the greatest respect for, said they wanted to play," said Hooper. "All are seasoned, well-versed musicians, songwriters and performers. This looks like it is going to be something really special."

The show will take place from 6 to 9 p.m. Tickets are $10 at the door and will be sold on a first-come, first served basis starting at 5:30 p.m.

Indoor seating is limited, but "this is a music revival at its best, and we'll be throwing open the windows to fill the night air with song," the release said. "For a $5 suggested donation you can set up a lawn chair, sit in the bed of

The Way I See It

By Sharon Bouchard

Regular readers of this column may recall that about once a year I write a column about my pet peeves, you know those all too frequent things that really, really irritate me. I generally write it either at the end of the year or the beginning of the new year, but there is one major irritant that is, well, irritating me and I simply can't wait until the end of the year to vent.

For those of you who are handicapped or deal with a handicapped person you will understand why I am so irritated and are probably as irritated as me. For those of you who do not have a handicapped person in your life you probably will not understand where I'm coming from, but you should pay attention just in case you are of the people creating the irritation.

Please take note that when you go to the supermarket or shopping center where the parking lots have handicap parking spaces, the diagonal lines between the handicap parking spots are NOT meant to place shopping carts. The diagonal line spots are, in fact, handicap unloading zones. And for that matter, the handicap parking spots are not where the shopping carts go either. Most of these parking facilities have specific cart corals to put the shopping carts when you are done.

These cart corals are usually not so far away from where your car is parked that it doesn't require a backpack and plans for a long trip to get to them. It probably takes less than 5 minutes to properly put the car away and get back to your car no matter where in the lot you are parked.

For the non-handicapped and the non-caregivers of the handicapped it may seem like a trite issue, but believe me, it is not trite at all. Try to imagine yourself in a wheelchair or some disability

A pet peeve that really irritates me that impairs comfortably getting around. Now, try to imagine that you need to go shopping and if you are lucky enough to find a handicap parking spot that's not blocked by shopping carts, imagine how you feel when you find that you can't not easily exit your vehicle because the unloading zone is.

I want to make myself clear that I believe that most of you do the right thing and put your shopping carts where they belong. However, there are a fair number of you who are either too lazy to do the right thing or don't give the handicap a second thought or both. Before the handicap person can get out of their vehicle someone, usually the caregiver or someone passing by has to move the darn carts out of the way.

I'm not just whistling Dixie here, my husband is confined to a wheelchair and we have to deal with the inconsiderateness of others at least once or twice a week.

And while I'm on the subject there are a few other parking lot irritants I might just as well get off my chest. If you have no valid reason for parking in a handicap spot, other than wanting to get as close to the door as possible, DON'T do it. Most parking lots have a limited number of handicap parking spots and there is nothing more irritating than to see some strapping young person in an over-sized pickup truck taking a handicap parking space just because they feel they are entitled to it just because it's there. Someday you may really need one and then you'll understand, though I don't wish a disability on anyone.

Also, if you think you need to change your oil or you baby DON'T throw the refuse anywhere in the parking lot. That's just lazy and stupid. You know who you are.

Okay, now I've vented and I feel much better. I hope some of the handicap people and caregivers feel better too because I speak for them as well as myself. And, the way I see it just maybe some of the people who irritate me with their shopping carts, oil cans and dirty diapers will now do the right thing just so they don't have to see me vent about it again.

Horseless Carriages at the Norseman Inn

Last weekend a dozen or more parties with "horseless carriages" rendezvoused at the Norseman Inn for two full days of touring. This group consisted of Horseless Carriages Club of America (www.hcca.org) members. The HCCA says of itself, "HCCA has defined the Horseless Carriage as any pioneer gas, steam and electric motor vehicle built or manufactured prior to Jan. 1, 1916."

Automobiles that I saw were Hudson, Stanley, Maxwell, Buick, Cadillac, Ford (of course) and a Pierce-Arrow. Saturday morning I had a chance to watch the Maxwell's owner get his car prepped for the day's 75 mile tour. With oil can in hand he went over the complete front of the car and engine compartment giving all the moving parts a squirt. His comment to me was "One thing about modern cars, you don't have to go through all this." Also on the engine compartment's rear wall, there was a coffee can sized oil "tank" with tubes leading to each of the two cylinders that fed oil to the engine valves.

I always thought of the Maxwell car as a Jack Benny car. In fact in Wikipedia I found a photo of Jack Benny in his 1908 Maxwell shaking hands with President Truman. The car at the Norseman was a 1909 model which looked the same as the Benny car. Its Maine license plate read "157 Horseless Carriage". The owner told me that Maxwells were traditionally red like Fords were black. The one here, though, was a light ivory with dark green accents. Jack Benny's car in the black and white photo looked white.

The other "trophy" car in the group was a Pierce-Arrow. In 1909, President Taft ordered two Pierce-Arrows to be used for state occasions. Along with two White touring cars, these cars were the first official White House cars, according to Wikipedia. Not long after my Crosby grandparents had bought the "Red

Two young music students will conduct part of the end of summer concert for the Mahoosuc Community Band Monday night, Aug. 12, at 7 p.m. at the Bingham Auditorium, Gould Academy in Bethel. Simon Smith is a junior at University of Southern Maine studying music education, with euphonium as his instrument. He also has a minor in history. Samantha Powell is a junior at University of Maine Orono studying music education, with oboe as her major instrument. Both students love music, playing with the Mahoosuc Community Band for 10 years each. They graduated from Telstar High School. Powell wants to teach music for all ages, elementary through high school. The Community Band enjoys playing familiar favorites for the listening enjoyment. The music Monday night will be a combination of older favorites like "Satchmo" and "Blues Brothers," and new numbers like "Things that Go Bump in the Night" and "Cabaret and Runaway Baby." "Androscoggin March" is written by R.B. Hall, a Maine composer. Refreshments will offer a time to visit with the musicians following the concert. Under the direction of Patricia Boyle-Wight, the Mahoosuc Community Band rehearses Monday nights in the basement of the West Parish Congregational Church. All abilities of music players are welcome to rehearse. The group takes a few weeks off after this concert and will resume rehearsals Sept. 9 at 7 p.m. For more information about the band contact band contact president Kathleen DeVore at 875-2364 or katedev@aol.com.

House" in Sunday River, they acquired a Pierce-Arrow (a 1916 or later model). Pierce-Arrows had distinctive head lights, the first car to mount lights in flared housings on the front fenders instead of on either side of the radiator. The headlights of the Crosby car were mounted on the front fenders.

Photos of the visiting horseless carriages are in this week's online Bethel Journals news. A video of the cars will be on YouTube as Norseman Horseless Carriages. My thanks go to Mrs. Cheney for calling to let us know about the old car weekend.

Visit the Woodstock Historical Society Museum

Like me, probably everyone reading this has driven by the Woodstock Historical Society Museum and like me has not been inside. After Saturday I known Boiler Room restaurant building (which now appears to be a residence as well) is there almost as a part of old Bryant Pond day's museum tour.

Once inside, the first item to catch one's eye is the Bryant Pond Telephone Company switch board with connected phone. They also have copies of the Bryant Pond Telephone Company phone book dated December 1983. Mr. Bonney got out photos of the Stowell Wood Products mill along with photos of Dexter Stowell and Sam Timberlake, the mill and a woman working at a production station in the mill.

Touring the museum, there are lots of interesting items to see (and feel): old baseball gloves from Woodstock High School; an Oliver typewriter, a 1923 bicycle; a large display of old hand tools; a collection of Knights of Pythias swords; photo of Route 26's curve in the 1920-30 era and a large photo of the John F. Dearborn mill standing beside a rail siding that later in 1928 became the mill of the Stowell Silk Spool Co.; it burned in 1955.

It is very easy to browse one's way through the museum upstairs and down.

Our Summer Places

Friday, Kathy, Ashton and I took off for Screw Auger Falls for a lunch out. It was a beautiful day and I wanted to see what the tourist/sightseeing traffic was like. At Screw Auger the parking lot count held pretty steady at 20. After eating, Ashton started working his way down the river on the big rocks. One of the visitors was an artist painting a picture of the upper falls. I asked her if she would be putting some motion into the falls and she replied she hoped that others would at least recognize waterfalls in the painting.

Our next stop was at the AT - Route 26 crossing further up the Bear River Road. Here the parking lot had the same number of cars - about 20. A group of young men hikers were drying the boots and socks while taking a break. Kathy noticed that some were a little banged up - bandages here and there. Hiking register for July 31 showed seven listed Table Rock, 18 people in all; two listed Georgia as their destination; a party of 12 listed Pinkham Notch and they had been out 14 days on the trail; a party of three listed Katahdin and they had been out 135 days; one listed Old Speck and two others listed Eye Brow as their destinations. The Table Rock hikers' comments were "Great Hike" and "Outstanding."

Our last stop was at Step Falls. Here there were the same number of cars, 20, and the parking lot was overflowing. Ashton and I set out with a goal of hiking up to the point where the 100 plus years old pipe that carried water from Wight's Brook to the nature camp electric generator of Charles Kellogg crossed the trail. All the way up we met parties of two to a half dozen people coming down. As we got higher, each step in the falls had parties of up to a dozen people wading, sunning and munching. We finally reached the pipe and walked to the point where the last section would have been in a "step" pool. A group of a dozen or more young women were just leaving and I was able to get a photo of Ashton pointing to the spot where the now broken pipe would have entered the water. On our way down the trail again we met at least a dozen groups making their way up - a perfect day for Step Falls.

area of the Town Garage property [which today would be near Western Maine Supply's location]. Eli Barker, Edwin Rowe and Daniel Smith each sold a parcel of land to the Trustees of Gould Academy on Aug. 12, 1908. A July 29, 1909 Oxford County Citizen article states that the land for an athletic field was purchased, partially fenced, and a considerable amount of money spent in clearing by the young men of the school, etc. The town was deeded the land soon after the new Alumni Field at Gould Academy was completed in the late 1930s. Townspeople used this area for donkey ball games, sundry sports events, and baseball games over the summers until the Town Garage was erected (in 1948).

Blueberries are in season and available at farm stands and pick-your-own fields. On Sunday my mother and I visited my sister and brother-in-law, Laurie and Bob Hickey in Shelburne, N.H. Their granddaughter, Katie Matczak, was visiting from Bellingham, Mass. We had planned a field trip to pick blueberries at Blueberry Heaven in Milan, N.H. We arrived at the field in the middle of a thunderstorm, so we left and toured Milan. When the wind and rain died down, we returned to the fields. The owners were starting to shut down but stayed open so we could pick berries. This was not like the blueberry fields I remember from childhood when we spent hours crouched over low blueberry bushes on the side of Mt. Abram. Blueberry Heaven's bushes are four to five feet tall with berries the size of small marbles. There are picnic tables and lawn chairs where you can sit and enjoy the beautiful view of the White Mountains. The fields will be open every day until the season is over. The owners reported that last year they picked berries into October. You can call Blueberry Heaven for open hours at 603-449-6789.

The peak night for viewing the Perseid meteor showers is this weekend, the night of Aug. 11 to 12. The best viewing will be between midnight and dawn. The moon will be out of the sky that night and if the weather cooperates, viewers may be able to see 60 to 100 meteors per hour. The Perseids are the result of the comet 109P/Swift-Tuttle. As particles of dust from the comet enter the Earth's atmosphere, they burn up from the friction and streak across the sky as meteors or shooting stars. Some viewers claim they can hear meteors pop and sizzle. Others say meteors appear in different colors; green is most often cited. Although these claims are widely debated, it is true that some meteors create fireballs as they streak across the sky. The Perseids are definitely worth losing a few hours of sleep. All you need to watch is a dark place away from lights, a lawn chair, and a warm jacket. The Perseids are the most widely watched meteor showers because they appear in warm months and are clearly visible, weather permitting. The showers began on July 17 and last until Aug. 24.

The lower level of the Skate Park at Davis Park reopened on Sunday, Aug. 4. Dozens of skateboarders were there testing the new, improved ramps. A group of volunteers led by Dave Bean, raised funds through the "Kickstarter" website to finance the improvements.

The Rumford Center United Methodist Church is celebrating its 150th birthday this summer. The church, which is located on Route 2 in Rumford Center, is holding a special anniversary service on Sunday, Aug. 18, at 10 a.m. The Bethel United Methodist Church is canceling their Aug. 18 church service and joining with the Rumford Center that day for their sesquicentennial celebration.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Hey, and the places to be and have fun, aside from all the other businesses are the Innside Shop for special gifts, and the Root Cellar for pampering and haircuts... the hopping places in Bethel. Come and join us.

Have a great week.

We have been trying to make the most of this crazy weather. One minute it is beautiful so we go outside and then the next minute we are dodging raindrops.

My brother, Steve McLain, stopped at Swain's Farm Stand on his way home from work the other day. He found out that the corn was ready, so he had to stop and pick some up.

Mary Tyler came home from shopping the other day and found a Black Duck in her door yard. It did not seem to be in a hurry to leave and hung around for a couple of hours.

ADOPT gratitude companionship. PET OF THE WEEK:

Meet Taffy

Taffy is just one of many beautiful kittens that are waiting to begin their lives as family pets at Responsible Pet Care. No matter what color kitten suits your fancy, your new, furry best friend is waiting for you.

The fee to adopt a kitten from Responsible Pet Care is $90. It includes spay/neutering, vaccinations, treatment for worms and fleas; and testing for feline diseases. All you need to add is the love.

Responsible Pet Care of Oxford Hills is a no-kill, non-profit shelter and adoption center for cats and dogs; and the holding area for stray dogs for 12 towns in Oxford County. The shelter has moved to a new location at 9 Swallow Road in Paris. Anyone interested in adopting a pet from RPC can visit the shelter Tuesday-Sunday 12-4 p.m. Most of the adoptable pets and the adoption application can be found online on the shelter's website at www.rpc.petfinder.com. For answers to questions about adopting or fostering a pet, or to make an inquiry about a lost animal, call Responsible Pet Care after noon at 743-8679.

Now is the time to start thinking of protecting your pet from LYME DISEASE
The best protection against lyme disease is prevention. Give your pet a flea and tick preventative, which can help ensure that an infected tick that attaches itself, dies before transmitting the disease to your pet. The CDC is indicating that we can expect an increase in lyme disease this year.

STARMARK CABINETRY

The kitchen. It's the heart of your home.

By remodeling your kitchen and adding the warmth and elegance of StarMark cabinetry, it will sing. You'll be singing too - praise for its design and solid construction.

Make a sound investment.

The Bethel Citizen

had visitors from Portland, Mich. recently. Randy and Jackie Yeager arrived in time to celebrate Joe's 65th birthday. Randy and Joe were in the army together and had not seen each other for 25 years. They had a great visit and toured around the area to check out some of the nearby sites. They took a stage up to the top of Mount Washington, checked out the Cog Railway and then traveled to the Height of Land in Rangeley.

There was a birthday party for Jim Corriveau last Sunday at the Town Hall. The party was hosted by Ann Choquette and Jim's daughters, Shelly, Jamie and Stephanie. There were several friends and relatives that attended.

Pauline Corriveau Morin was one of the attendees at the birthday party, so I had a chance to have a short visit with her. She grew up in Gilead and we spent many hours hanging out together.

Elena and Jon Martin, Jon's son, Greg Martin, and our grandson, Ben Chapman, arrived Sunday for a visit. They are camping for a few days in Shelburne, N.H. They had a chance to visit with Tim, Michele, Ajay and Sidney. We had dinner at Pizza Hut one evening.

Town Manager Kim Sparks said the Greenwood Selectmen are in hopes of signing the land lease agreement with the Legion for the new town office Tuesday evening. That was too late for this column, but I'll let you know next week.

A bit of politics, but, don't despair, it is amusing, historical, and out of Greenwood's history. It seems that back in the late 1800s, early 1900s, there were two post offices in Greenwood. Both were on the main drag and across the road from each other. One was a democrat post office and the other was a republican one. If there was a

Sara Wight, daughter of Steve Wight of Newry, recently had the opportunity to meet PGA golfer Phil Mickelson (nicknamed "Lefty"), who last month won the British Open. democrat administration in power, then that one was open. If republican, that one was open. And you thought politics were crazy nowadays. Thanks to Blaine Mills for that bit of history.

Friday fish fry this week. August 9, 3 to 6 p.m. at the Greenwood Fire Station on Howe Hill Road. They sold out of fish and potatoes last time - 75 pounds of fish and 200 pounds of potatoes. Get there early.

Sympathy to the family of Charlie Farrar who died recently at the ripe old age of 98. I grew up with his children, and he was one of the numerous adults who tried to keep all of his kids and their friends under some semblance of control. I'm sure we drove him and all the other parents slightly crazy. Just as kids still do today. RIP, Charlie.

Corn is in. Pick it fresh, boil a few minutes, rub a bit a little butter and shake a bit of salt on it.

Grasses are going to seed along the roadsides and in the fields. Some are a soft tan, others golden, and some have a red hue. In fact, most everything is going to seed now. Seeds are what our corn, green beans, tomatoes, berries, and all else really are. Given that, I'll gladly eat seeds any day.

It has been a very good year for blueberries. The picking has been good at most every popular spot for berrying. The gem of the season is blueberry pie, and that brings to mind the exceptional pies Stella Eames used to make at Cotton's Restaurant.

She had two secrets: always include some slightly under-ripe berries to give it some zing; always thicken the pie with flour. Any other thickener may have been close to a sin in her book, and that went for any fruit pie. Stella was an ill-defined relative of mine who was lumped into the category of aunt. Close enough to call her kin.

Some people have been berrying on the power lines. While berry bushes like the sun in those open areas, remember that those same areas are sprayed with herbicides to retard tree growth. Those herbicides could well be in the soil and, therefore, in the berries you are picking to eat. There are lots of other good places to pick.

Of course, harvest time means the next season is getting ready to roll through the door. Early morning air already has that clarity that comes with autumn air. The cats are choosing to spend their nights inside curled up in the blankets. Pretty soon we'll start to hear the crickets.

There will still be plenty of warm days, but don't delude yourself that it is still mid-summer. The cats with cancer for many, many months.

Condolences also to the families of Rod Millett, Charlie Fillebrown, Jr., Brad Hix and June Dyer. Love and prayers to each family on the loss of their loved ones.

Lots of yard sales and festivals going on the past month. Missed out on the strawberry ones, but do intend to get to one of the blueberry festivals, or to at least get to buy a pie or two for my freezer.

A busy day tomorrow, my niece Megan and Brandon are getting married and they have chosen their marriage to be held at McLaughlin Garden and Homestead in South Paris. Praying for a great sunny day for their special day.

Last month was a busy month for the band. With all the bookings and practices we had, it didn't leave much time for me to get a column in.

Celebrating August birthdays are, Richard Libby, Winfield Robinson, Yogi Dillingham, Joan Grover, T.C. Moore, Spencer Moore, Gerry Brown, Alan Coffin, Terrian Atallah, Tausha McAllister, Barry Hadley, Herbie Knights and Tricia Hadley Young. Birthday wishes to each of you and hope you have an awesome day.

Anniversary wishes are going out to, Lloyd and Gina Poland and Roni and Jeanne Grover, Sr. My mom and dad would have been celebrating their 73rd. Anniversary today, (Aug. 2).

Mark your calendars for Sunday, Aug. 25, the Down East Country Music Association will be holding their annual awards show at the Silver Spur from 12 noon to 5 p.m.

Upton

By JOE BERNIER

Upton Fun Day will be Saturday, Aug. 17. The Parade will start at 9 a.m., and other activities and events will follow.

The Ladies Aid 2013 quilt is finished and the Ladies are ready to sell raffle tickets for it. Please call Charlotte, 207-533-2061 or Carol, 207-533-2028 for information or tickets. The Ladies will have crafts and goodies for sale throughout the day.

The Upton Historical Society has been making preparations for "Fun Day." They will have the upstairs of the school open to show their collection of photos, artifacts and documents. They will offer for sale this year's T-shirt, which features a painting of the Upton Ladies Aid Building, raffle tickets for a coffee table/bench made by Bob and Laurie Brown, fried chicken dinner and tickets to a tour of the Historic Homes of author Louise Dickenson Rich. To purchase raffle tickets before Fun Day please call Charlotte, 207-533-2061.

For their part in Fun Day the Letter B Notch Riders will sell hamburgers and hot dogs. They will also have membership applications and trail maps available.

Four other members of the Letter B Notch Riders and I went for an ATV ride Sunday. The first trail that we went on was blocked by high water that was caused by a new beaver dam. We backtracked a mile or two to get back on the gravel. Later, we were on a road that loggers had used last winter. Sometime in the last couple weeks they came in and removed the culverts and dug very deep water bars. We pushed, pulled, winched and crawled through about 12 of them. It took us about four hours to go 20 miles. It was, in my opinion, a great day of riding.

Call 533-2010 or e-mail backstjoe@gmail.com with your news.

Cabe Coolidge has returned from a train trip to Vancouver, Wash.

with his aunt and uncle. Cabe's favorite sites were the Redwood Forest where he rode in a car through one of those gigantic trees, and the Sears Tower and wading in the Pacific Ocean. The People In Action Group is hosting a FREE community lunch on Tuesday, Aug. 13 at 12 noon in the CEB. The menu includes barbecued chicken, assorted salads and dessert.

Even though we woke up to rain on Saturday morning, the weather God smiled upon us and Olde Home Day was a huge success and here are some of the results. There are too many to report this week, so others will be in next week's column as I receive them from the various contests.

In the parade first place in floats went to River Bend Farm, the Paul Hutchins family; second, Richard Pelletier owner of Journey's End Farm; Lone Mountain Farm under the leadership of Don Bailey took third place. Their float honored the memory of Clarence Bailey who passed away in 2012. Fourth place went to Aiden Johnson of Dixfield.

The Blueberry Pie Eating Contest is divided into age categories and the winners were: 4 to 7, Ceana Robinson; 8 to 11, Bella Robinson; 12 to 15, Cassidy Palmer.

The Skillet Toss also had age divisions and the winners were: 13 to 18, Haly Holland; 19 to 29, Lexi Broomhall; 30 to 45, Cathy Williams; 46 to 64, Martha Kelly.

At the Historical Society Flower Show, the Best of the Show award went to Debbie Averill while Ellie LeComte took the Judge's Award. Just

ing. No frost yet, but a feel of what's coming. Such is summer in Maine. After painting for a few hours, we took a break for lunch and then went to Bridgton to visit our friend Vicki. She was glad to see us. It is truly amazing how we can live within ten miles of each other and be "too busy" to see each other. It was great to see her and a nice break from the same old, same old.

Saw many friends Saturday night when we went to Toji's annual Fourth of July party. Obviously this year's party was a little off date, but a good time was had by all.

Thursday, Aug. 8, ACOA will meet at the Waterford Library at 10 a.m. This is a discussion group, and is open to all adult children. FMI please call 739-9115.

Aug. 8 at 5 p.m. Albany Church will hold a supper with baked beans, casseroles, salads, pies and rolls. There will also be a 50/50 raffle. Adults are $7 and children 12 and under are $4.

Friday, Aug. 9, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., the Waterford Library will hold an Antique Appraisal on the Waterford Common.

Bring your items in for an appraisal. Cost is $10 per item or $25 for three items.

Grilled sausages and hotdogs will also be available. Proceeds go to the library. FMI please call 583-2050.

Sunday Aug. 11, the Waterford World's Fair meeting will be at 2 p.m. Volunteers are invited to come to join in a burgers and dogs event before the meeting.

Made some great gluten-and-dairy-free blueberry muffins. They were sugar-free too. Next we plan to pick blackberries they are almost done. YUM.

That is all for this week. Have a great week and stay warm, but not too warm.

Woodstock Historical Society news

The Woodstock Historical Society would like to thank Randy Bennett from the Bethel Historical Society for all of his support during the Gertyockett Day activities.

There is an ongoing fundraiser for the WHS; anyone interested in donating their returnables can do so in Bryant Pond at the "Crazy Sisters Bottle Redemption" located next to the Post Office. You do, however, need to inform them that the money is for the WHS.

The WHS is searching for assorted Eureka Yearbooks. If you have yearbooks you would like to donate to the WHS so they can have a complete set on display for viewing, it would be greatly appreciated. The years needed are: 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929 and 1917 and prior, if any exist.

Winners for the two rounds of golf at the Paris Hill Country Club were as follows: Janet Willie won two (2) rounds of golf and Mary Dunn won one (2) rounds of golf.

Annie Crockett's homemade quilt raffle will be held on Aug. 10 at the monthly meeting.

BHS thanks volunteers

Founded in 1966, the Bethel Historical Society is one of the most active historical organizations in its region. Through its exhibits, programs and publications, the Society strives to make the area's past meaningful, accessible, and enjoyable by collecting, preserving, displaying and interpreting historically significant artifacts, photographs and documents. But, with a staff of only one full-time and one part-time employee, how are these ambitious and important goals achieved? Volunteers! If not for the hard work and financial support provided by hundreds of volunteers over a period of nearly five decades, the Society would not have achieved its current level of activity and status among other historical organizations in the region.

The presence of dedicated volunteers at both of the Society's buildings on Broad Street has been particularly noticeable this summer, especially in light of the special exhibition of White Mountain art in the Mason House exhibit hall. It goes without saying that volunteers make it possible to keep the Society's facilities open year-round so that BHS members and the general public can take advantage of all the organization has to offer. In addition to those who volunteer to help with daily operations, the Society benefits greatly from the time and expertise of individuals who serve on its board of trustees and/or on one or more of its board committees.

For their assistance in the Mason House exhibit hall this season, the Society would like to thank Jan Stowell, Tineke Ouwinga, Dean and Priscilla Walker, Sally Taylor, Rachel MacKay, Pauline Applin, Ginny Gamble, Karen Bean, Grace McKivergan, Polly Davis, Becky Kendall, Rosemary Bunn-Laban, Walter Hatch, Peggy Wight, Cathy Newell, Ginger Kelly, Eric and Lucia Schwarz, Lucy Nordahl, Tim and Iris Roberts, Ann Holt, Lynne Kulik, and Jackie Bell. For serving as guides in the period house museum, sincere appreciation goes to Allan Marcotte, Savannah Sessions, Karen Bean, Nancy Mercer and Jim Macgregor. For carrying out various research projects and assisting others in the Society's Spidell Research Library, thanks are due to Barbara Honkala, Mary Ennis and Warren Stearns. For conducting group walking tours, gratitude goes to Stan Howe and Ginger Kelly. In the Museum Shop, located on the first floor of the Robinson House, the following have generously volunteered their time this season: Grace McKivergan, Cayte Vogt, Tammy MacDormand, Jean Owen, Vicki Smith, Becky Kendall, Bettyann Hastings, Musa Brown, Arlene Lowell, Donna Douglass, Rachel MacKay, Barb Dion, Pauline Applin, and Lucy Nordahl. And last, but certainly not least, the Society expresses its appreciation to Mary Ennis and BHS Registrar Jackie Bell for their work accessioning and cataloging numerous collection items. The Bethel Historical Society, truly a community-supported museum, is indeed fortunate to have the enthusiastic support of the above-named individuals. Truly, volunteers make the difference!

Notice is hereby given that the Bethel Historical Society's Annual Meeting will take place at the Dr. Moses Mason House on Sept. 12, 2013, at 7:30 p.m. At this time, members present will vote on revisions to the Society's Bylaws, and new trustees and officers will be elected.

Bethel Harvestfest

Fall foliage is a magical time in Maine's western mountains! The myriad colors of the oncoming fall paint the landscape in shades of yellow, orange, and red with a hundred hues of green. Country fairs celebrate the bountiful harvest in ways individual to the rural communities throughout Maine's vast forest.

Bethel's 16th Annual Harvestfest will take over the town on Saturday, Sept. 21, with artists, crafters, and farmers selling their wares, plus the famous Chowdah Cook-off and Apple Pie Contest.

The "Harvest of Local Talent" will feature local musicians performing in the Bethel Common gazebo. Free horse-drawn wagon rides will treat visitors to a slow ride through the lovely village between noon and 3 p.m. Come watch the amazing chainsaw carving demonstration! A drive around the area to check out the individually decorated scarecrows is a must - with this year's theme being "It's a Green Thing!" The event is "kid-friendly" - come hang out with Oakey, the Oakhurst Acorn and plan to make a wooden craft to take home compliments of our friends from Hancock Lumber.

The Chowdah, prepared by restaurants and home chefs from around the area, is entered into the Chowdah Cook-off to vie for Judges' and People's Choice awards. "Everyone loves the Chowdah Cook-off," said Robin Zinchuk, Executive Director of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. "The fast moving line can get long, but it's totally worth it to get to sample so many chowdahs from the area's best chefs."

What's a harvest meal without locally made dessert? The apple pie contest includes professional, amateur, and non-traditional divisions, and winners in each division will receive a $50 gift certificate from contest sponsor the Good Food Store. All pastry chefs are welcomed to enter!

Delicious locally grown baked potatoes from Sunday River Farms - served with a wide variety of toppings - locally grown corn on the cob and more top off the list of foods that will satisfy even the picky eater!

Scenic bike rides, canoe and kayak tours, golf, hikes and walking tours, gift shop specials, apple picking at two local orchards, Chondola rides and a full range of activities at Sunday River Resort offer a full weekend of autumn fun - check out www.bethelmaine.com for more information on all there is to do in the area.

A full schedule of events and information on entering the chowder and/or apple pie contests is available at www.bethelharvestfest.com. Event support is provided by Hancock Lumber, Oxford Networks, Allen's Coffee Brandy, Pepsi Beverages Co., Oakhurst Dairy, Sysco Foodservices, Mahoosuc Realty & Rentals, and Dunkin' Donuts.

Celladore

Now is the time to polish the brass muffin stands which we use for lamp tables. As I work, from the drabness emerge the serpents twined around the legs. The design of the round shelves becomes clear, in the center a two-headed eagle surrounded by acanthus leaves with a border of quarreling dragons broken in four places by a stag with powerful antlers... the time to do the income tax... to pick over drawers and cupboards... to refinish a Pembroke table... to upholster the platform rocker... to... but winter is not long enough.

How do you stand the winter is not the question, what is difficult to stand is the time when it is supposed to be spring, but here there is no spring. We are sated beyond redemption with interesting food. All that we can think of that would be enticing is dandelion and fiddlehead greens, asparagus, tart rhubarb sauce. The house which seemed cozy all winter is now drab. The braided rugs in the kitchen are dowdy and dull from having many layers of wood chips swept over them. Tossing them on the snow bank only shows up the faded and worn spots. The covers on the study furniture are no longer a brave scarlet but a muddy terra cotta color. The smell of wood fires has lost its savor.

We long for the bare kitchen floor, the green covers in the study, the smell of a house with doors and windows left open day and night with pine-scented breezes sweeping through. The hooks in the kitchen are weighted down with sweaters, coats, scarves. The row of boots and overshoes seems a menace to trip over. The horses are restless from being contained in the small pasture next to the barn. We and

Fryeburg Fair news

The Fryeburg Fair, established in 1851, will host its 163rd annual eight-day fair Sept. 29 through Oct. 6 in Fryeburg. As always the Fryeburg Fair, considered to be one of the best agricultural fairs in the U.S., offers non-stop livestock, agriculture and farming exhibitions with over 3,000 head of cattle, horses, sheep, goats, hogs, poultry, rabbits, oxen and more. This year's Fair starts with opening the doors of its new Expo Center, 9,000 square feet of commercial exhibition space. This new building replaces the former Expos 2 and 3.

Traditional Fair events include Woodsmen's Field Day, horse and ox pulling, draft horse tandem hitch-ups to eight, pig scrambles, calf scrambles, cooking contests, flower shows, exhibition halls of crafts, handiwork, photos, art, forest and wood products; a full museum of old farm equipment and memorabilia with live demonstrations; the "Little Red Schoolhouse," built in 1835; the milking parlor, firemen's musters, sheepdog trials, tractor pulling, 4WD pulls and pari-mutuel harness racing on the Fair's half-mile track.

In its second year, the Fair's Specialty Foods Pavilion offers innovative food products made with local farm ingredients. The Fiber Center's creativity continues with their Coral Reef Project and the Maine Mitten Project. The 2013 Night Show headliners are "Tony Boffa Band," "Diamond Rio," "Jana Kramer," "Shea Rose," "Band of Heathens" and "MarchFourth Marching Band." The Fair is known for the best French fries made with the finest local Maine potatoes, along with an incredible variety of food choices for every taste.

The annual Fireworks show on Friday night at 9 p.m. (right after the Night Show ends) is always fantastic and Saturday's 10 a.m. Grand Parade is two hours of Fryeburg Fair's best on display. General Admission is $10 daily and includes 8 p.m. Night Shows. Children under 12 are always free. Tuesday is Senior Citizen's Day (65 and over are admitted free). Gates open at 7 a.m.

Harness Racing is at 1:30 Tuesday through Sunday. This year the Fair begins accepting credit cards, for admission only, at all ticket gates (Visa, MasterCard and Discover). Advanced admissions tickets can be purchased at the Fair office beginning on September 16 at a reduced rate of $9 per ticket with a minimum of 20 tickets per purchase. Fair Office Hours for advanced ticket purchase are Monday through Friday 9 to 3. For further information on Fryeburg Fair, go to www.fryeburgfair.org or call the Fair Office at (207) 935-3268.

University College news

The Adult Baccalaureate Completion/Distance Education (ABCDE) Report presented to the University of Maine System (UMS) Board of Trustees in July outlines recommendations designed to help more Maine adults complete a baccalaureate degree. The aim of the report is to guide the University System as it seeks to increase student success, meet workforce needs, and control costs. University College at South Paris plays a significant role in this System-wide effort.

Since the 1980s, University College Outreach Centers have played a pivotal part in expanding local access to higher education and in helping non-traditional students reach their educational goals. Thus UC Centers are uniquely poised to model the skills and resources needed to support the adult learner, who is often place-bound because of job and family responsibilities. University College's experience in serving adult learners - using a single point of contact or concierge model - will help to advance the goal of removing barriers to success for adult students throughout Maine.

"For three decades, University College Centers have been at the forefront of providing access and support for Maine adults pursuing a college degree," said UMA President Alyson Handley who chaired the ABCDE Task Force. "As we implement the report's recommendations to assist adults in returning to college, the Centers will be integral to our efforts."

Adult students who complete their degrees at UC centers have found encouragement and support on the way to advancing in their career and life goals.

"As a non-traditional student, I had specific obstacles to traverse on my way to completing my college degree," said Gwen Shatto, a recent graduate. "The support and encouragement that the staff and professors at the Center gave me have helped me to step beyond my comfort zone and embrace learning, which was invaluable to my success. I now have my Bachelor's Degree and the confidence to advance through life with my head up and my mind open."

"The Center was a big part of my being able to finish college," according to 2013 UMA graduate Mary Johnston. "I wanted to do this for myself and for my kids. My boss asked if I wanted to become a manager because he knew I was working on this degree."

Each semester, University College offers access to more than 400 courses leading to dozens of degree and certificate programs from the University System campuses as well as services that support student success. ### 'What do you do all winter?'

they long for the day when they can go to the big pasture with the pond. Their first day out there is always an event. The deep red of the blueberry vine leaves shines through the newly-green grass. The horses prance as we lead them down to the gate; once inside they drop their heads for a snatch or two of this welcome fresh grass. Then they are off galloping and bucking down the length of the field, out of sight a minute in the gully, seen again in the far fort. They race and circle back to us briefly, another long gallop, then settle down to the serious business of grazing. But this is only a hope right now; the only sign of a changing season is a few brave crows black against the snow.

Then comes a morning when I wake up shivering and race down to build up the furnace fire. I slide open the draft in the front door, a bright light shines out but there can't be coals as we did not put in wood last evening. I open the door and find only gray ashes. Then I look up: The sun is high enough in the sky to send a shaft of light through the cellar window and reflect from the slot on the door. It is like a rainbow in the dark cellar; my spirits are transformed. Summer will really come, the snow and then mud will disappear, the patchy fields will change from ugliness to lush green. The slow rhythm of winter has gone and this up-and-down interim period before summer is good. One has basked too long in a regular pattern. It is well that one cannot plan a day ahead but instead has to adapt to whatever comes. If I were a poet I would not sing of the traditionally leaping brooks but rather make my lyric to the rainbow in the cellar.

We have one bit of ceremony that livens the days.

Pieces of clothing now are dropped not into the laundry but into the fire. Even so, first, the good buttons are salvaged or a piece that would do for a patch. One day it will be a pair of what was once chic tailored wranglers. They were past their prime when I got them; the color was never becoming. Now the nap has completely worn off the corduroy in places; repeated washings have shrunken them. Emerson's duty has been done. With great satisfaction I lift the cover and toss them into the stove. It is a game to end the season with nothing. It gives a lift to the day as each garment is discarded. B.B. who never indoctrinated with this wear-it-out, make-it-do philosophy, with crocodile humility will tease, "Don't you think that I ought to save these old army pink for next year? After all, they are one hundred percent wool." I refuse to answer. Their original color is faded and disguised by wood and grease stains. They are covered with rips, since he prefers a tear to a patch any time. I think they should have been thrown out long ago.

The end of this gawky season is measured by us by the day that the mud has dried out enough so that the road is passable for sure. It is never the same week nor even month. Some years the snow gradually melts away, no water comes into the cellar, the road gives trouble for only a week. Other years come an unnaturally hot spell, the snow goes quickly, the road is full of water, and also the cellar. One year B.B. pumped three or four times a day from April sixteenth until May fifth. But unfailingly, the phoebe comes back and lays her eggs in her nest under the porch roof; the rhubarb domes appear. Next day it is summer.

Andover Olde Home Days 2013

Obituaries

EMERSON CLOUGH

Emerson Clough, 95, of Bethel, passed away on Saturday, Aug. 3, 2013 at Norway Rehabilitation and Living Center.

He was born in Bethel, Dec. 17, 1917, the son of Robert and Mabel Bryant Clough. He attended school in Bethel then went to work on different farms or logging. He enlisted in the Army in 1941 and served in the European Theater of Operations. He saw action in Africa, Sicily, France, Belgium, Germany, and was discharged in 1945. After returning home, he worked in the woods, did some mining and when the opportunity arose, he went to work in the construction field as a laborer, retiring in 1979.

Since then, he has enjoyed hunting, fishing, trapping, and gardening. He was an active member of the American Legion, and also belonged to the Laborer's union and was involved in the John Clough Genealogy Society. On Feb. 1, 1947, he married Adaline Stetson and they celebrated their 66th wedding anniversary this year.

He is survived by his wife, Adaline; a son Theron and wife Susan of Hermon; three daughters

Valerie (Cindy) Schroeder of West Baldwin, Rosalie Farnum and husband Steve of Harrison, Corinne (Connie) Lausier and husband Richard of Errol, N.H.; seven grandchildren; Russell Schroeder and Vicki Steele, Victoria Day and husband Tommy, Erin Saxby and husband Marc, Coleen Pelletier and husband Heath, Janelle Mitchell and Harlan Plummer, Nick Lausier and wife Morgan and Caleb Farnum; great-grandchildren: Ashely Schroeder and Richard Chapman, Brooke Day, Riley, Jack and Sam Saxby, Collyn and Jamison Pelletier, Thomas and Maxine Lausier; great great-grandchildren: Kaylee and Richard Chapman; and also many nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by his parents; brother, Roger (Pete); sisters Dorothy Gordan, Grace Morrill, Margaret Merrill and Mazie Kincaid; a half-brother Herman Bryant and a son in law Bruce Schroeder.

Thanks to Dr. Harbage and his staff, the staff at Stephens Memorial Hospital and Norway Rehab for their comfort and care. We would like to say a special thank you to Mabel and Frank for always being there for "uncle!" Online condolences may be shared with his family at www.chandlerfunerals.com.

A memorial service will be held Saturday, Aug. 10 at 11 a.m. at the Jackson-Silver American Legion Hall in Greenwood (Locke's Mills). A time of visitation and refreshments will immediately follow the service. In lieu of flowers, please make donations to the American Cancer Society, 1 Bowdoin Mill Island, Suite 300, Topsham, Maine, 04086.

Arrangements are under the care of Chandler Funeral Homes and Cremation Service, Greenleaf Chapel, 37 Vernon Street, Bethel.
